

Flood Research Project

You can use the following guide pages to complete a research project on your chosen flood disaster.

In your project include information such as geographic location, background information (including historic and local information), current status including hazard risks and future predictions of activity.

Decide what format you will present your research. Some formats you might consider: Power Point presentation/slide show, video/movie, poster, booklet, web page, podcast or interview.

You will need to cite multiply sources for your information. Use the pages at the end of this guide to list them. Make sure to use a variety of resource formats including digital and books/newspapers.

Most of all grow and learn as you research flood disasters!
